

Puerto Morelos Luxury Real Estate Investment and Boutique Realty Operator

Thanks to flexible remote work policies, the destination market across Mexico continues to heat up, especially as remote workers seek resort-style living year-round. Buyers continue to buy vacation homes to enjoy more often and then rent them out as income properties for the rest of the year. Over the past two years, the global rental market remains at a record high as demand continues to outstrip supply. With constant demand and potential transaction problems, well-known real estate companies are entering the Mexican resort market to help buyers navigate the waters.

Prices vary greatly depending on the location of the property. Real estate prices rose 8% year-on-year according to different government agencies in Mexico. Investing in Mexico luxury real estate is generally considered safe and lucrative, especially in tourist-heavy locations like Mexico's Riviera Maya. Investing in holiday real estate in Mexico is a great way to expand your knowledge and experience as an investor.

Real Estate Investment Laws for Foreigners in Mexico

Foreigners can own real estate in Mexico. It's perfectly legal. Outside the restricted zone -- 50 kilometers (about 31 miles) from the coastline and 100 kilometers (about 62 miles) from the border. The foreigners can hold direct title deeds with the same rights and responsibilities as Mexican citizens.
